Hello, I'm THEO EL KHOURY

ABOUT ME ►

I'm Théo El Khoury, a French-Lebanese individual with a passion for finance, technology, and international relations. My journey has been shaped by frequent relocations, extensive travel, and a continuous pursuit of learning. I'm a self-taught front-end developer, currently expanding my knowledge in AI, and studying management at Université Saint Joseph. I've held leadership roles, such as founding the geopolitical club in high school, and I'm active in university clubs like MUN and Entrepreneurship. With a strong ability to adapt and connect with diverse people, I aim to leverage my skills in finance, technology, and global networking to make a meaningful impact in private equity and business management. I'm focused on integrating innovation and strategic thinking to help organizations thrive in an evolving global landscape.

Career summary & goals

I am a passionate French-Lebanese citizen, driven by continuous learning, exploration, and innovation. My professional journey is shaped by a deep interest in finance, international relations, and technology. I aim to leverage my multilingual abilities and cross-cultural experiences to navigate the ever-evolving finance and private equity landscapes. In the next 2-5 years, I see myself thriving in a challenging role where I can combine my financial expertise and AI-driven approaches to optimize business operations and contribute to startups' growth.

My professional philosophy

I believe in blending analytical thinking with creativity, where continuous learning and resilience fuel my growth. My mission is to use my skills in finance, technology, and communication to make impactful decisions, build meaningful relationships, and create sustainable value within organizations. My diverse background and adaptability empower me to navigate complex environments, fostering innovation and making the most of unexpected opportunities.

WORK EXPERIENCES

Personal

SKILLS

►► WEB DEVELOPMENT

Proficient in HTML, CSS, and JavaScript, with ongoing learning in backend development. I am self-taught through online resources, such as YouTube and courses, and continue to expand my technical knowledge.

►► FINANCIAL ANALYSIS

Beginner in financial forecasting, sales analysis, and rent calculations during my internship at Azadea. I combine logical thinking with financial expertise to make informed, data-driven decisions.

►► LEADERSHIP & TEAM MANAGEMENT

Leadership experience as president of a geopolitical club and involvement in university clubs (MUN, Entrepreneurship). I have also planned and executed alumni events, and obtained a certificate in event management.

►► PROMPT ENGINEERING

Trained in applied prompt engineering and its daily use to optimize productivity. I leverage AI models and analytical platforms to enhance workflows, improve decision-making processes, and streamline tasks, particularly in financial contexts.

Personal

QUALITIES

►► ADAPTABILITY

My experiences with frequent relocations, living in diverse environments, and traveling solo have shaped my ability to quickly adjust to new situations. I thrive in dynamic, high-pressure environments and excel in embracing change.

►► RESILIENCE

I pride myself on my ability to overcome challenges and stay motivated despite difficulties. My resilience has been forged through both personal experiences and my ability to handle complex tasks under pressure.

►► CREATIVITY

I am always seeking new approaches and solutions. This creativity is not just reflected in my work but also in how I connect with people, plan projects, and solve problems in unexpected ways.

►► GLOBAL AWARENESS

Having traveled to several countries and lived in both Lebanon and France, I have developed a deep understanding of global cultures, which informs my strategic thinking, especially in international business contexts.

►► PROBLEM SOLVING

Whether tackling complex financial scenarios or navigating personal challenges, my ability to apply logic and analytical thinking allows me to resolve issues efficiently and effectively.

►► MULTITASKING

I manage multiple responsibilities effectively, balancing academics, extracurricular activities, internships, and self-study. My capacity to juggle several tasks simultaneously while maintaining high standards of work is a key strength.

Personal

►► COMMUNICATION & NETWORKING

My ability to build strong, lasting relationships has been crucial to my success. From forming personal connections while traveling to networking in professional settings, I am skilled at both communicating clearly and building meaningful networks.

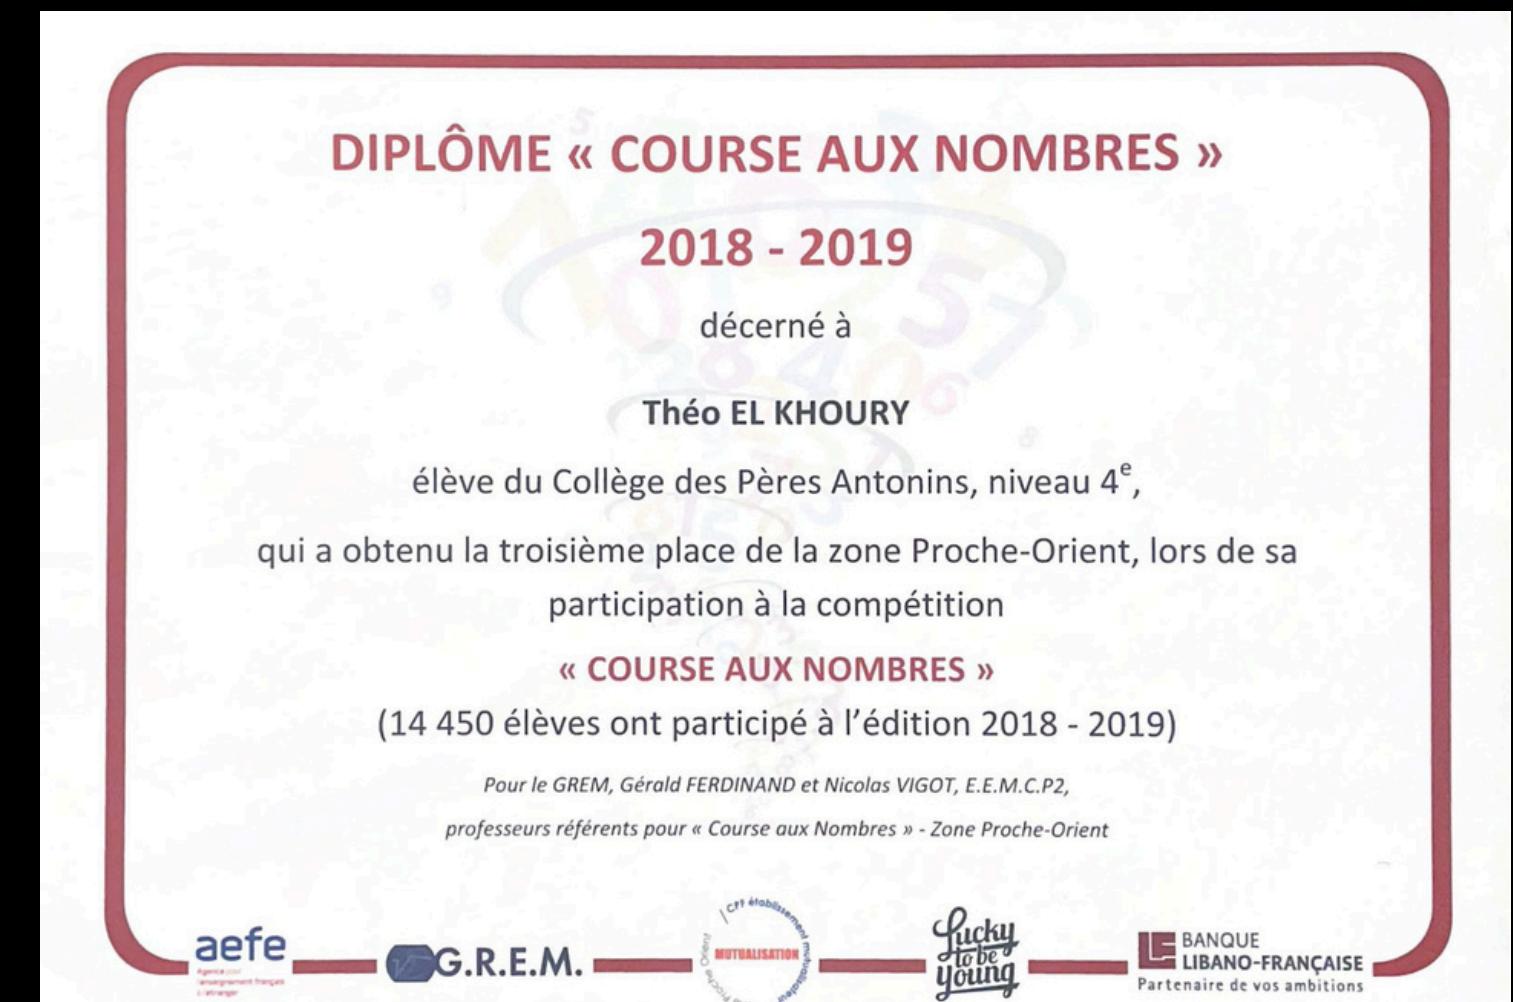

►► TEAMWORK

My experiences in team settings, such as being part of the MUN club and collaborating in group projects, have enhanced my ability to work well with others. I am both a leader and a collaborator, ensuring that goals are met with mutual cooperation and respect.
